

AVID Targets Underrepresented Students -- Especially Latino Students

AVID targets students who have traditionally been left out of the college-going mainstream. There were 3,437 AVID students in Region 5 middle and high schools during 2002-03. The following chart compares the ethnicity of AVID students to that of all students in Region 5. It shows that AVID is particularly effective at reaching Latino students.

AVID's Low Income/Diverse Students Meet the UC/CSU "a - g" Course Requirements

Completion of the "a through g" curriculum is very strong evidence of a serious college-going culture. By this important measurement, AVID students (70.5% completion rate) outperformed their peers in Region 5 (41.5% completion rate)—indeed, throughout the state (34.6% completion rate)—by a wide margin.

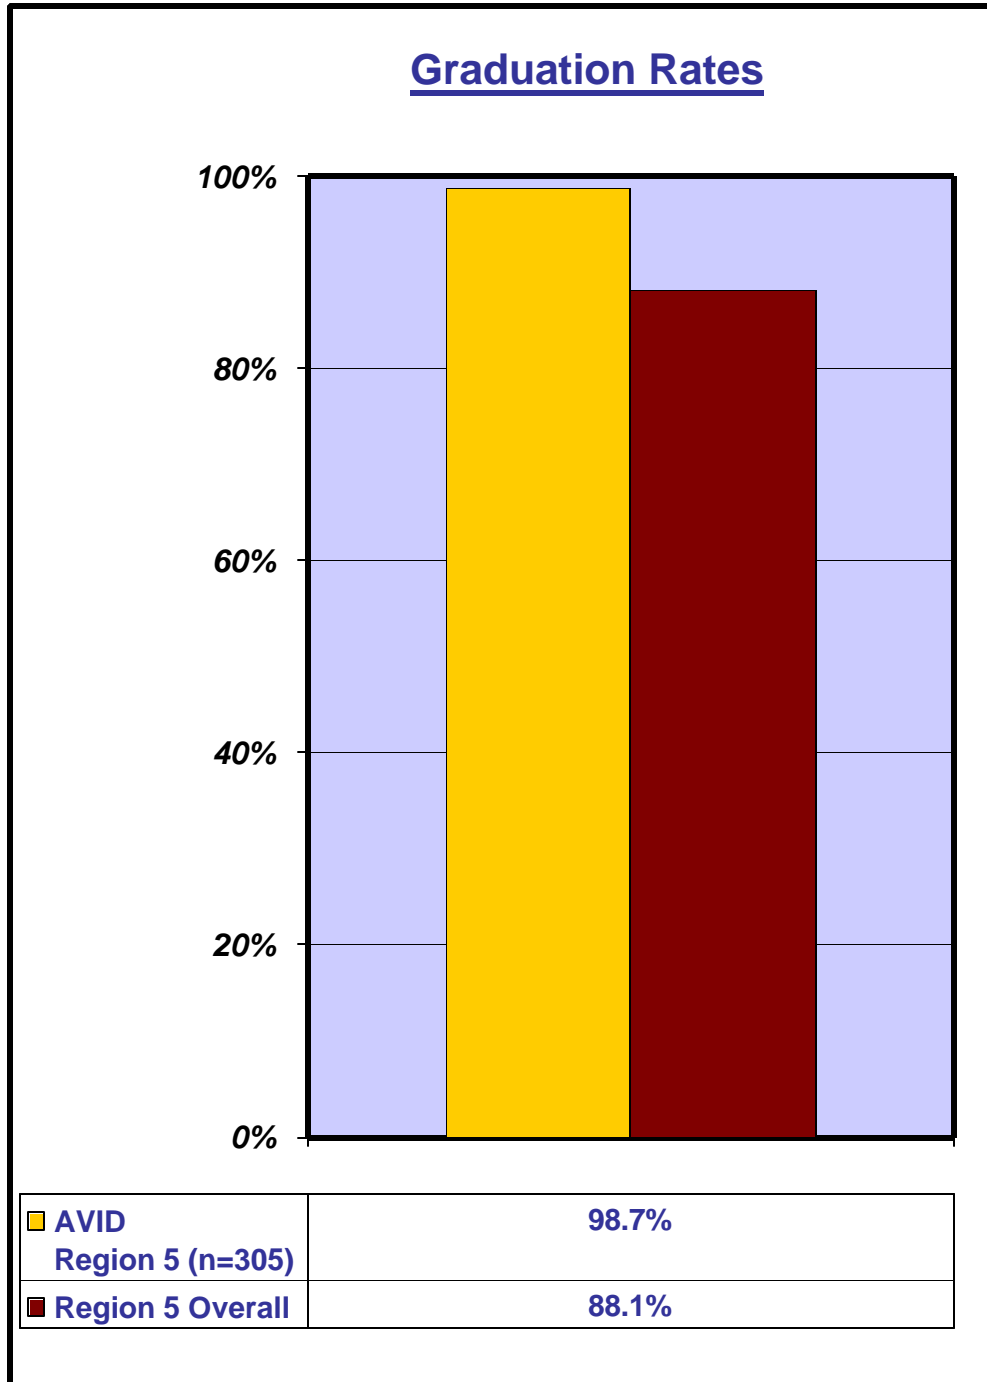

AVID Center: Annual Data Collection [Database]. (2002-2003).

California Department of Education: DataQuest [Database]. (2001-2002).

The AVID Graduation Rate is Extraordinary

Although underrepresented, AVID students are motivated to achieve their college dreams. This explains their extraordinary graduation rate compared to all students in Region 5.

AVID Center: Annual Data Collection [Database]. (2002-2003).
California Department of Education: DataQuest [Database]. (2001-2002).

AVID Students are Accepted into the California State University System

The following chart shows that AVID is extremely successful in getting underrepresented students accepted into the CSU system. AVID students are accepted into the CSU system at a rate more than four times that of non-AVID students in Region 5.

AVID Center: Annual Data Collection [Database]. (2002-2003).

California Postsecondary Education Commission: Student Data [Database]. (2001-2002).

AVID Students are Accepted into the University of California

AVID students in Region 5 are accepted into the UC system at a higher rate than non-AVID students in the Region.

AVID Center: Annual Data Collection [Database]. (2002-2003).

California Postsecondary Education Commission: Student Data [Database]. (2001-2002).